Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. This is in response to the applicant's communication filed on December 13, 2001, wherein claims 1-46 are pending.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on March 26, 2002 is being considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 2, 17, and 31 recite the limitation "the user". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Claims 1, 16, and 13 refer to providing the legal information to a client, not a user.
4. Claims 2-8, 17-28, and 34-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is not clear what the term client defines and what the term contributor defines.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3629

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1, 16, and 30-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Krachman (US 6,738,760).

Referring to Claims 1, 16, and 30-33:

Krachman discloses a method, system, and storage medium for managing legal information related to at least one legal matter in a system including a legal enterprise system and a remote system (Figure 3), the system comprising a storage system coupled via a network for communicating information (300), a database (34), the method comprising:

storing legal information in a database associated with the storage system, said legal information including an evidentiary outline corresponding to the legal matter (Figures 1 and 7-13), the evidentiary outline including a party's position and a link to evidence (Figure 1 (11) Deposition Transcripts etc.) stored in the database supporting the party's position (Figure 1 (11) Fact chronologies/issues); and providing the legal information to a user via the network (Figures 7-13).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3629

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 2-15, 17-28, and 34-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over claims Krachman as applied to claim 1, 16, and 33 above, and further in view of Embracing the Virtual Office Concept: How Legal Anywhere Collatorator! Can Help, By David H. Griggs published February 2000 (hereinafter referred to as Griggs).

Referring to Claims 2-3, 17-18, and 34-35:

Krachman does not disclose determining if the user is a client or a contributor based on the user identification and password.

Griggs discloses determining if the user is a client or a contributor based on the user identification and password (page 2 you can collaborate with individuals outside of the firm – be they clients or outside co-counsel. Again, you can authorize or restrict access to anyone you wish and likewise limit access to certain areas for those who can access the site -Collaborator permits you to grant editing rights to other parties participating in the case/transaction (clients, co-counsel, colleagues); page 3 Security. The service implements easy to use security features, including token sessions, expiring session ids, address and authentication control).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate into the legal system of Krachman the security as taught in Griggs so as to ensure that client information and other internal information within the system is secure while allowing one to collaborate with individuals outside of the firm.

Referring to Claims 4, 19, and 36:

Krachman discloses enabling a contributor to add a further link to further evidence in the database (col. 3, lines 54-56)

Referring to Claims 5, 20, and 37:

Griggs discloses enabling the contributor to edit the link to the evidence (page 2 Collaborator permits you to grant editing rights).

Referring to Claims 6, 21, and 38:

Griggs discloses restricting access to the legal information if the user is a client (page 2 you can collaborate with individuals outside of the firm – be they clients or outside co-counsel. Again, you can authorize or restrict access to anyone you wish and likewise limit access to certain areas for those who can access the site -Collaborator permits you to grant editing rights to other parties participating in the case/transaction (clients, co-counsel, colleagues)).

Referring to Claims 7-8, 22-23, and 39-40:

Griggs discloses wherein the contributor has access to legal information related to all of the plurality of legal matters and wherein the contributor has access related to a subset of all of the plurality of legal matters (page 2 you can collaborate with individuals outside of the firm – be they clients or outside co-counsel. Again, you can authorize or restrict access to anyone you wish and likewise limit access to certain areas for those who can access the site -

Art Unit: 3629

Collaborator permits you to grant editing rights to other parties participating in the case/transaction (clients, co-counsel, colleagues).

Referring to Claims 9, 24, and 41:

Griggs discloses wherein the legal information is encrypted prior to transmission to the storage system (page 3 solutions is as secure as the current encryption levels allow).

Referring 10-14, 25-29, and 42-46:

Krachman discloses wherein the evidence includes documents produced during discovery, response to interrogatories, deposition transcripts, audio files, and video files (Figures 7-9 and col. 4, lines 20-26).

Referring to Claim 15:

Krachman discloses wherein the evidentiary outline includes parties' position (Figure 1 (11) Facts/Issues).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Legal NetEx User Manual, discloses an Internet based collaborative and document management technology.

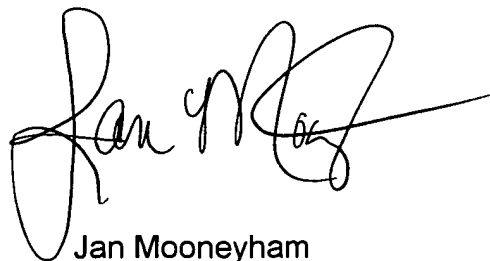

Extranets discloses an extranet is an intranet with exclusive hyperlinks to other locations used to share information in law firms.
